Hello Hiring Manager,

As a Product and Growth Professional specializing in Go-To-Market (GTM) strategy, I am driven by the challenge of bridging the gap between engineering innovation and commercial adoption. My philosophy as a builder is rooted in the belief that the best products are not just built; they are actively grown through data-driven launches, strategic positioning, and cross-functional leadership. I am eager to bring this mindset to your organization to scale high-impact solutions.

Beyond my technical background in Computer Science and Engineering Management, my core strength lies in execution and adaptability. I thrive in ambiguous environments where I can establish culture, define clear operational metrics, and align diverse teams—from engineering to business stakeholders. I believe in profound ownership over the product lifecycle, prioritizing a strong work ethic and continuous iteration over the status quo.

This philosophy was central to my work at the University of Texas at Arlington, where I led the GTM strategy for 'MavMarket.' By fostering a dedicated community and utilizing my technical empathy to resolve critical friction points, I successfully aligned over 200 vendors and scaled attendee numbers to 5,000+. It is this ability to build culture and execute complex, cross-functional networks that I am most proud of.

I am looking for a team that values deep ownership, aggressive growth, and a culture of team-wide success. I am eager to apply my GTM expertise to your mission and look forward to the possibility of contributing to your continued market expansion.

Sincerely,

Abhishek Nagaraja
